

The diagram shows a large, empty rectangular box at the bottom. Above the top edge of this box, centered, is a smaller rectangle filled with a light gray color. Above the gray rectangle, there are five horizontal black lines of varying lengths, extending from the left side of the diagram towards the right. The lines are positioned at different vertical levels, with the topmost line being the longest and the bottommost line being the shortest.